Information posted via social media is for information purposes only, and not to be regarded as constituting legal, tax, or investment advice by Stifel. The information should not be interpreted as a recommendation, offer or solicitation to buy or sell any financial instrument to any person in any jurisdiction. The opinions and views expressed are those held by Stifel at the time of publication and may become subject to change without notice at any time. Stifel does not accept orders via social media. Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. The value of investments may go down as well as up. Stifel does and seeks to do business with companies that the Research Analysts may write about on Facebook, Twitter, or LinkedIn and/or mention in their research reports. As a result, investors should be aware that Stifel and its affiliates may have a conflict of interest that could affect the objectivity of the Analyst's Reports. Investors should consider the information provided in the links to the Analyst's Report as only a single factor in making their investment decisions. Nothing Stifel uploads, posts, tweets, or retweets should be interpreted as a recommendation for any particular investment. Your financial advisor is in the best position to know which investments are suitable for you, and Stifel's social media pages are not a substitute for a financial advisor. Thus, do not construe Stifel's uploads, posts, tweets, or retweets as any kind of personal investment advice whatsoever.
