In last year’s letter, I described Stifel’s results against the backdrop of a year of duality. 2016 was much the same, but in reverse order. The year began with a sharp market correction and corresponding concern about global economic growth. While markets generally improved as the year progressed, two major events shocked the system. First, the United Kingdom’s rejection of the European Union roiled financial markets while highlighting the vulnerability of democracies to non-traditional political movements. The U.S. presidential election was equally jolting — especially to pollsters — yet markets responded with exuberance. Both outcomes were unexpected and defied conventional wisdom, and they reminded us how quickly things can change, be it markets or politics.

Events like these have happened before and will happen again. As the saying goes, the only constant is change. Change is disruptive, yet presents unexpected opportunities as well. Our strategy has always been to position ourselves to take advantage of opportunity, and to embrace a long-term view.

Stifel’s 2016 results reflect this long-term view as we recorded our 21st consecutive year of record net revenue. During 2016, Stifel continued significant investments in our infrastructure, accelerated the growth of our balance sheet while remaining cognizant of credit and interest rate risk, and improved our client service capabilities through organic hiring and integrating mergers. Accounting for all this, net income under generally accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”) was $78 million, or $1.00 per diluted share.

We also provide our results on a non-GAAP basis, which excludes the impact of merger-related expenses. Our long-term approach to strategic mergers is to structure transactions in order to maximize both associate retention and tax efficiency. Excluding the impact of these merger-related expenses, non-GAAP net income was $186 million, or $2.39 per diluted share, for 2016. Our non-GAAP net income includes the impact of duplicative expenses, which was $0.23 per diluted share in 2016.
Global Wealth Management posted record revenue of $1.6 billion, an increase of 14% over 2015, and achieved record profitability. Stifel Bank ended the year with approximately $13 billion in assets while maintaining a conservative risk profile. Asset management and fees totaled $582 million, an increase of 18%. Strategically, we understand that as much as things change, one thing remains constant – the value and importance of the relationships between our advisors and their clients. We remain focused on the intersection of technology and personal advice. As such, we are committed to investing in systems to assist our advisors in helping their clients understand, organize, and plan their assets, liabilities, and wealth. Our focus on the advisor relationship and our investments has not gone unnoticed. We are pleased that J.D. Power ranked Stifel 6th in Investor Satisfaction with Full-Service Brokerage Firms.

Our Institutional Business comprises Institutional Client Services and Investment Banking. Our strategy is to provide our institutional clients value-added services, while addressing the structural changes occurring in this sector. This business is highly correlated to the growth in the U.S. economy, and we believe we are well positioned as economic conditions improve. For 2016, Institutional revenues were in excess of a record $1 billion with solid profitability.

Institutional Client Services (sales, trading, and research for debt and equity) recorded revenue of $535 million, an increase of 10%. We are pleased with the increase in our equity brokerage revenues, which totaled $239 million. Increased activity and volatility after Brexit and the U.S. presidential election offset otherwise tepid industry-wide volumes. Fixed income brokerage revenues, buoyed by our acquisition of Sterne Agee, were $296 million, up 18%. Our Stifel and KBW franchises combine to make us the largest provider of U.S. research. Together, we achieved the No. 1 ranking in the 2016 Thomson Reuters StarMine Analyst Awards. This marks our third No. 1 ranking since 2010 and tenth consecutive top 10 finish. In addition, Stifel Nicolaus Europe Limited won four StarMine awards for United Kingdom and Ireland, plus one award in its Europe rankings. With respect to Fixed Income, Greenwich Associates’ U.S. Investment Grade Credit study ranked Stifel No. 1 in quality of service among its mid-tier, non-bulge-bracket peers.

Investment Banking revenues totaled $513 million, an increase of 2% from 2015. Banking revenues were equally divided between capital raising and advisory revenue. However, it was a difficult year for capital raising, especially in several of Stifel’s strongest verticals, as these revenues declined 17%. Offsetting this decline was an exceptional year for advisory services, with advisory revenue of $257 million, up 31% from 2015.

Stifel’s debt financing business is anchored by our public finance business, driven by both geographic and sector diversification. For the third consecutive year, Stifel led the nation in the number of municipal negotiated issues, serving as sole or senior manager for 801 transactions with a total par value of approximately $17 billion. In addition, Stifel ranked No. 1 nationally in underwriting bonds for primary education (K-12) with 409 issues totaling nearly $8 billion, issues supporting economic development and redevelopment with 118 issues raising $2.9 billion, and issues to finance the construction or renovation of affordable housing projects with 56 issues raising over $600 million across the country.

With respect to equity, we managed or co-managed more than 150 offerings, of which nearly 50% were book-run deals. Our strength across key sectors, including Financial Institutions, Healthcare, and Technology, continued with book-managed transactions for a number of clients, including Achoagen, TherapeuticsMD, Everspin Technologies, and Ichor Systems.
The power of our KBW franchise was highlighted by our leading position in raising equity after the 2016 U.S. presidential election. KBW raised over $1.0 billion of equity and book ran 14 transactions, four times more than any other firm in the 2016 post-election period, including transactions for Iberiabank Corporation, Renasant Corporation, and Valley National Bancorp.

In the United Kingdom, Stifel was the fourth leading capital raiser across all U.K. equity markets. The investment funds team had over 26% of market share in 2016, including banner transactions for Secure Income REIT plc and two follow-ons for Sequoia Economic Infrastructure Income Fund Limited.

On the advisory front, we were involved in several marquee transactions, including MicroSemi’s $2.5 billion acquisition of PMC, Talmer Bancorp’s $1.65 billion merger with Chemical Financial Corporation, and Aéropostale, Inc.’s unique restructuring and Section 363 sale.

As planned, 2016 represented a year of growth in company assets, primarily interest-earning assets in Stifel Bank. We grew our assets by 43%, ending the year with over $19 billion. In addition, we achieved our stated capital ratio goals, ending the year with a Tier 1 leverage ratio of 10.2% and risk-based capital ratio of 20.3%. Looking forward, our future organic asset growth will be funded primarily by retained earnings.

Stifel has long approached mergers and acquisitions opportunistically and with patience. We are not motivated to achieve growth for growth’s sake, and our philosophy is to wait for the right opportunities. Each opportunity that we consider must satisfy the following criteria: (1) the business needs to be a strategic fit, (2) the people need to be a cultural fit, and (3) the merger needs to be shareholder accretive in a reasonable period of time. The following depicts our key acquisitions since 2005:

Since my letter to you last year, we met these criteria with the acquisition of City Securities. Through that acquisition and our other recent strategic investments, we have augmented our wealth management and public finance capabilities while enhancing our advisory platform. I am pleased to welcome these talented associates to Stifel.

Stifel’s growth over the past 20 years would not have been possible without a strong and capable Board of Directors. Bruce Beda, who is retiring this year, exemplifies these characteristics, and I have been honored to work with him since I joined Stifel in 1997. In fact, I owe a debt of gratitude to Bruce, as he was the Director who first recruited me as CEO. Recently, Bruce has served as Audit Committee chair and provided leadership as Lead Director to Stifel's Board. Thank you, Bruce, for your service and friendship.

I am also pleased to welcome David Peacock, former President of Anheuser-Busch, to our Board. Dave will bring entrepreneurial, corporate, manufacturing, and marketing expertise to the Board of Directors. In addition, through his service as president of a global consumer brand, Dave will bring an in-depth knowledge and expertise in corporate governance, branding, marketing, and market presence.

The events of the past year are a reminder that the unexpected happens – consistently. Risk is everywhere and omnipresent. Global issues, including geopolitical risk, the sustainability of the Eurozone, populist backlash against globalization and free trade, and environmental concerns, pose significant challenges individually and collectively. In addition, our industry faces challenges, including the trend toward passive investing, global regulations regarding research payments (MiFID II), and the Department of Labor Fiduciary Rule. The market changes influenced by passive investment and regulations have caused many in our industry to exit sales and trading. However, we believe that the pendulum will swing back to active investment (I have stated I want to be the only active investor in a passive world), and we are committed to providing value to our clients.

Opportunities are myriad. At home, the possibility of tax reform and increased infrastructure spending, coupled with less burdensome regulations, provides a foundation for increased and sustained economic growth. If these events do indeed occur, Stifel will benefit along with the broader financial services industry. In the meantime, we will continue to focus on growing our business organically, controlling costs while preserving optionality for business improvement, and remaining diligent for opportunistic acquisitions.

Looking forward, we are reminded of the value of our long-term strategy, which since 1997, has grown the firm from 700 associates to over 7,000; from $110 million in revenue to over $2.6 billion; from $40 million in market capitalization to over $3 billion. By remaining true to our values and traditions, which have guided us for over 125 years, we believe we are well-positioned to meet challenges while remaining poised to seize the opportunities borne of change.

As always, we sincerely thank our shareholders and clients for their support, as well as our more than 7,000 associates for their commitment to excellence.
Through a combination of strategic acquisitions and organic growth, Stifel has grown to become one of the nation’s largest full-service investment firms, ranking No. 7 in terms of financial advisors, and J.D. Power ranked Stifel 6th in Investor Satisfaction with Full-Service Brokerage Firms.

Our impressive standing is no accident. It’s a reflection of the highly appealing culture we’ve built here at Stifel. We value our advisors and the client relationships they’ve worked so hard to build. As such, we seek to provide our advisors with the tools they need to strengthen those relationships as we continually work to eliminate bureaucracy and other impediments to success.

We know that by offering an environment in which advisors are empowered to do what’s best for their clients, we will continue to attract creative, entrepreneurial professionals who share our commitment to client service.
